

Town's new inspector to target speeding drivers

HANNAH MIRSKY
@HannahMirskyCN

HAVERHILL'S new policing chief has said he will crack down on speeding, as figures reveal thousands of motorists are travelling at over 40mph on residential roads in the town.

Insp Danny Cooper, who took charge of Haverhill's Safer Neighbourhood team this month, says he has been in touch with the West Suffolk Roads Policing Unit about monitoring speeding in one of Haverhill's "hotspots" – Bumpstead Road.

This 30mph street has average speeds of 35 to 40 mph and one vehicle was clocked there at between 80 and 90mph a fortnight ago.

The figures come from two Vehicle Activated Signs (VAS) which record the speed of vehicles as they drive past. The signs have been bought by county councillors using their locality budgets.

The first was purchased in October by Cllr Tony Brown, while the second, purchased by Cllr Julian Flood, has been in operation for just two weeks.

The VAS figures revealed that between April 10 and 17 in Bumpstead Road and April 17 and 24 in Bergamot Road, a total of 2,063 drivers were travelling at 40mph or above.

Five were clocked at between 60 and 70mph and one at between 80 and 90 mph.

Insp Cooper said: "Driving at that speed is clearly dangerous, and if we catch someone doing that it will be more than just a fine."

The average figure used for purposes of roads policing is the speed at or below which 85 per cent of cars travel. In Haverhill's Bumpstead Road, Chimswell Way, Wratting Road and Couplands Road, which all have a 30mph speed limit, this figure is 35 to 40 mph.

Insp Cooper said: "We use the VAS data to build a picture of where the hotspots are for speeding, and then we would target those areas with various methods from community speedwatch and Safer Neighbourhood Team up to bidding for the road policing units and speed detection vans."

He is aiming to get a community speedwatch scheme, in which volunteers man a speed camera and take down numberplates, started in Haverhill.

He said: "I'm very keen to set up more community speedwatch schemes. They are a really good deterrent. We do need the help of the community."

"If you are interested, please do contact the local Safer Neighbourhood Team."

If you'd like to get involved with setting up a speedwatch scheme, email haverhill.snt@suffolk.pnn.police.uk, or call 101 and ask to be put through to the Haverhill Safer Neighbourhood Team.

YOUNG PEOPLE

Have your say on planned skate park

CALLING all Haverhill skaters, BMX riders and freerunners: now's your chance to help create a brand new "urban sports" facility.

Haverhill Town Council has set out plans for this new facility in its youth strategy – but it wants the creation of the site to be driven by young people.

A meeting is being held this evening for any interested young people to have their say on the facilities they would like to see made available.

The session, at 6pm in the Haverhill Arts Centre cafe area, will be run by the council's arts and leisure manager Nick Keeble.

He said: "It's an exploratory meeting to find out what those different groups might look for in a facility, to find out how that might work together, and to give a few examples where it does. And to find out, especially from the skaters and bikers, what would be different from the one they already have."

There is already a skate park in Haverhill's Howe road, and plans are under way to create a BMX pump track on the Clements estate. This would make the proposed urban sports facility the third in the town.

The preferred location for the facility is the New Croft in Chalkstone Way. Mr Keeble said he was hopeful the facility would be delivered within two years.

You can confirm your attendance by visiting the Haverhill Arts Centre Facebook page, or simply turn up this evening.

COMMUNITY

Extra £47k for dream stadium

GRANT: Peter Betts, HCSA facilities manager, Dave Hardwick and Ben Cowling, of Haverhill Borough, and Bruce Badcock, of HCSA, with the grant confirmation

A FOOTBALL organisation has received a grant of £47,899 for a new stadium – to add to the £600,000 it has already secured.

The Haverhill Community Sports Association (HCSA) and the Haverhill Borough Football Club, which is based at HCSA's New Croft in Chalkstone Way, jointly applied for the grant from the Football Foundation's Football Stadium Improvement Fund.

HCSA had already secured a Football Foundation grant of £321,450 and a borough council loan of £300,000 towards a state-of-the-art 3G pitch. But the extra funding will mean a more professional stadium, with seated and terrace stands, a turnstile, a refreshment building and a retractable tunnel for players to enter the pitch.

HANNAH MIRSKY
@HannahMirskyCN

Peter Betts, football development officer and facilities manager at HCSA, said the developments would benefit the Haverhill Borough and Haverhill Rovers football teams, which both play and train at the New Croft, but also the wider community, who access clubs and activities there.

He said: "It just increases opportunity. It allows us to accommodate everyone from three years old to 50-plus years old."

"We can now facilitate a high level of football as well as football for all."

"It's for the people who just want to have fun, the people who do it for healthier living, and those who are semi-professional."

HCSA is planning an increased programme of community activities to make full use of the new stadium, and is set to increase the size of its team, employing a second football development officer and more casual staff.

Mr Betts said: "We don't want to rest on our laurels. We want to carry on growing the facility."

Construction on the new facilities is set to start within the next three or four weeks. Mr Betts said it should be finished by the second week of August.

A launch event is planned for August.

Appeal after arsonists light fire outside vets practice

HANNAH MIRSKY

@HannahMirskyCN

STAFF at a veterinary surgery are appealing for public support after an arson attack behind their premises.

The fire service were called to Homefield Road Veterinary Surgery in Haverhill at around 9.45pm on Friday, where a bin and a chair had been set alight behind the practice.

Police say they are treating the incident as arson, and are appealing for witnesses.

Staff from the practice are also asking for help from anyone who may have seen anything, and they say it could have been far worse as highly flammable oxygen tanks are kept on the site.

Practice manager Sally Allen said: "If it's children they probably wouldn't know or even think that there might be oxygen around."

Miss Allen added that animals are sometimes housed on the premises overnight.

She said: "We don't want anyone's pets to be endangered."

Fortunately, no animals or staff were in the building at the time of the fire.

The staff issued an appeal on Facebook the morning after the fire, calling on members of the public to contact the practice or the police if they know anything about the incident.

Miss Allen said: "If anyone thinks they might have seen something, please get in contact with the police. They might not think it's relevant but it might help the police."

She assured clients that animals who need intensive care overnight are always monitored by staff, and fire alarms are linked directly to the emergency services.

Call police on 101 quoting crime reference number 29381/16.

CRIME

Dog defends owner during break-in

A DOG defended its owner after a burglar assaulted him during a break-in in Haverhill last Tuesday.

The incident took place at around 4.35pm on April 19 in Ruffles Road.

The victim was alerted to the presence of the burglar – who had entered via the rear of the property – by the sound of the family dog barking.

When the intruder was disturbed, he ran out of the property into the garden, pursued by the victim and his dog.

While trying to leave, the burglar assaulted the victim. The dog then bit the offender, who jumped over a fence and fled.

It is believed he ran down the alleyway between Rosefinch Close and Kestrel Road.

The victim sustained injuries to his finger but the dog was not hurt. Nothing is believed to have been taken.

The offender is described as a white man, approximately 5 feet 10 inches tall, of scruffy appearance, slimly built, with a spotty complexion who was wearing a blue hooded top, black skinny jeans, and white trainers.

Anybody who saw anything suspicious is asked to call Suffolk Police on 101 reference 37/28750/16.

Councillor's funeral raises £627

MORE than £600 raised at the funeral of a respected borough and county councillor is set to be put towards tributes in a churchyard.

Cllr Tim Marks died suddenly in January, and this week his widow, borough councillor Margaret Marks, presented a cheque for £627 to Ben Pumfrey and Valerie Morton of Haverhill in Bloom.

The money was raised through a collection at Cllr Tim Marks' funeral.

The late councillor had been working with Haverhill in Bloom to regenerate the churchyard of St Mary's Church in Market Square, including creating montages in the church windows.

TRIBUTE: Cllr Margaret Marks (centre) presents a cheque to Ben Pumfrey and Valerie Morton of Haverhill in Bloom

The money will go towards a new community bench dedicated to him.

Cllr Margaret Marks said: "It had been the plan to raise money for more seating so Tim would have been pleased that the funds were being appropriately used."

Haverhill in Bloom is also working with local schools and Cllr Tim Marks' son

Jason is to fill in the last window in the churchyard with a montage tribute to his dad, depicting him as Mayor of St Edmundsbury, a role he filled in 2012/13.

Cllr Margaret Marks said: "We, his family, are incredibly proud that his work for Haverhill has been recognised in such an appropriate way."

CRIME

Burglars raid village business premises

POLICE are appealing for witnesses after burglars raided a business premises in Kedington.

The incident took place on Tuesday evening at around 9.25pm at the premises in the village's Silver Street.

Suspects forced entry to the property and made an untidy search. It is believed that some hand tools were taken.

One suspect is described as a young white man, approximately 5 feet 6 inches tall.

There is no description of the other suspect.

Police understand they were driving a dark brown Range Rover which sped away from the scene.

Anyone who saw anything suspicious is asked to contact Suffolk Police on 101 quoting crime reference number 37/29736/16.

NEWS IN BRIEF

Dementia workshop

ANYONE who knows or cares for someone with dementia is invited to go along to a workshop about the disease.

The event, at the Burton Centre in Haverhill's Camps Road, explains the SPECAL method of understanding dementia.

This involves explaining memory as a photograph album, and advising those interacting with someone with dementia not to contradict the sufferer or ask direct questions.

The three-hour presentation will explain how normal memory works and what happens when dementia takes hold.

The Haverhill workshop is set to take place on Tuesday, June 21, from 10am to 1pm. To book a place, call 01440 762 871 or email cap.ad-payne@gmail.com.

Doctors give advice for the long weekend

THE upcoming bank holiday weekend is a chance to let your hair down – but what will you do if you need medical advice?

As GP surgeries won't open on Monday, May 2, the West Suffolk Clinical Commissioning Group is advising residents to have a well-stocked medical cabinet and to call NHS 111 if you have a medical question which urgently needs answering. You can also visit your local pharmacy for advice. Residents are being reminded that A&E services should not be seen as an alternative to GP services.

David set to take on 100k walk for cancer research

DOUBLE MARATHON: David Jaggs, pictured in an Ultra Challenge t-shirt, is set to take on an 100km walk to raise money for Cancer Research UK

A HAVERHILL man is set to walk for 27 hours non-stop to raise money for Cancer Research UK.

David Jaggs, former manager of Morley's in Queen Street, will take on a 100km walk this July – the equivalent of two and a half marathons.

David, who now works at the Gurteens warehouse, said: "My mother survived cancer but there's so many other people that didn't survive. It affects anyone. Everyone knows someone who's had it."

He will be walking alongside Kim Spencer, a friend of his wife's who lives in Stradishall and works at HMP Highpoint.

He said that he signed up in October for the walk – organised by events association Ultra Challenge – and Kim signed up soon after. The pair have been training together.

The 100km walk stretches from near the Olympic Park in East London all the way to the centre of Cambridge.

He said: "I'm looking forward to it in a strange way."

David, who is 47 and lives in Haverhill's Ovington Place, said he had never been a very active person before he decided to take on the challenge.

HANNAH MIRSKY

@HannahMirskyCN

He said: "This is something quite new. I never thought about walking in my whole life before."

He and Kim have 30 hours of time allocated for the walk, and are aiming to complete it in between 21 and 27 hours of non-stop walking.

They will set off from London at 7am on Saturday, July 2, and are set to arrive in Cambridge between 6am and 1pm on Sunday, July 3.

David said: "I've had lots of support: sponsorship, encouragement, saying 'You can do it.'"

He said that he had been aiming to raise £650 for Cancer Research UK, but that he had already smashed his target and had raised over £1,500.

But he is hoping to raise even more money for Cancer Research.

PURPLE: Pupils at Churchill Special Free School in their purple outfits for Cancer Research UK

Pupils turn purple for cancer charity

A SCHOOL in Haverhill turned purple on Friday to raise money for Cancer Research UK.

Pupils and staff at the Churchill Special Free School in Chalkstone Way wore as much of the colour as they could to raise money for part of a national fundraising event.

Headteacher Georgina Ellis said: "We like to encourage our students to take part in events to raise money for charity – both in terms of fundraising and raising their awareness. It was a great day and we are delighted to have raised more than £40 for Cancer Research."

The school, which is part of the Samuel Ward Academy Trust, opened in 2013 and currently has 49 pupils, all of whom have speech, language and communication needs.

COURT

Attacker sends 'nice' apology to police officer

A MAN wrote a "rare and nice" email apologising to police after he drunkenly assaulted an officer in a row over a dog.

Dean Bennett, 32, had been drinking on April 8 when he began petting a dog outside the Byron Burger restaurant in Bridge Street, Cambridge. Concerned that Bennett appeared drunk, the dog's owner came out to ask him to leave the animal alone.

At this point, Bennett, of Seabrook Close in Hundon, became abusive and the police were called.

When they arrived, Bennett shouted abusively at them and resisted arrest.

Officers used spray on him and attempted to restrain him, to no effect, before he was "taken to the ground" by officers.

During the struggle, Bennett kicked out at an officer, injuring her on the leg.

Bennett pleaded guilty to assaulting a constable in the execution of her duty, as well as to two counts of using threatening or abusive words or behaviour to distress another, when he appeared at Cambridge Magistrates' Court on Tuesday.

JOSH THOMAS

Prosecuting, Paul Brown said: "When police arrived, they approached Bennett. He shouted abuse at them and continued being aggressive towards them. They tried to arrest him and had to resort to using spray. He resisted and struggled, the spray had no effect on him."

In mitigation, Miss Cleaver said: "He didn't intend to kick the officer. It happened when he was struggling after being sprayed. He was on the floor with the officers on top of him."

Once in police custody, Bennett continued to cause trouble for the police, even attempting to flush his mattress and pillow down the toilet.

"He says he knows what he did was wrong," said Mr Brown. "He can't remember much about the incident because of the amount of alcohol he had consumed. He says he was about eight out of ten drunk."

After his arrest, however, Bennett penned a series of apologetic messages to the police, apologising for his behaviour and expressing his embarrassment at the situation.

"The injured officer said 'fair play, it was a rare and nice email to open'," said Miss Cleaver. "He genuinely feels the remorse he describes."

Bennett was handed a community order and told to do 120 hours of unpaid work.

He was also told to pay £50 compensation, £85 towards prosecution costs and an £85 victim surcharge.

I'd give it to the teenagers

High quality care is priority

STATEMENT issued on behalf of GP practices in Haverhill, Christmas Maltings and Clements Haverhill Family Practice:

Family doctors, nurses and health staff at GP practices in Haverhill have pledged their continued commitment to delivering safe, high quality care to their patients.

The announcement aims to reassure patients that practice staff are working hard to support local people to live healthy lives as well as raising awareness of the increasing pressures faced by the practices.

Safe, high quality care will always be our number one priority. We want local people to know that we are doing our very best for them and would ask for their support over the coming months.

In Haverhill, and across the country, GP practices are coming under increasing pressure. There is a UK-wide shortage of GPs, making it difficult to recruit new GPs and gain cover for holidays and sickness. Practices are constantly short-staffed. Staff are working longer hours in an effort to keep pace with demand. Respected independent bodies, such as The Kings Fund and The Nuffield Trust, acknowledge that general practice is in the midst of a national crisis.

Patient healthcare is increasingly complex, with more people developing long-term health conditions such as heart disease and diabetes. Not enough GPs have been trained to meet demand and, in recent years, the proportion of funding for general practice has dropped to an all-time low. Hospitals are overwhelmed and are passing their work on to GP practices.

Over the last year our practice has introduced new initiatives to help our patients. In addition to making a face-to-face or telephone appointment, patients can be seen on the day for urgent problems. Booking appointments a maximum of one week in advance has reduced the number of appointments which are wasted by people failing to attend, although unfortunately the number of wasted appointments is still around 1,600 a year. More than 17,000 routine appointments have been taken up in the last 12 months.

Overall, in the last year, our practice has delivered more than 57,000 patient appointments with doctors – including telephone consultations, and as well as these, patients are able to access appointments with our highly trained nursing team.

Two emergency care practitioners – specially trained paramedics – and a nurse practitioner are part of the team.

We are proud to have recruited new doctors this year and have 11 GPs who all work very long hours to see the patients who come for advice. In addition to routine GP appointments our care services include home visits every day to housebound and residential home patients, looking after terminally ill patients to allow them to die at home with their loved ones, and in the surgery we regularly deal with life threatening emergencies.

Our practice has served Haverhill for more than 100 years and we want our patients to be able to access the most appropriate health care services for their needs, as quickly as possible. Yet, we know the pressures facing primary care health services are not going away in the near future.

Practices in other parts of the country are collapsing. We are determined to continue to provide high quality care for Haverhill people. To do this we need your help and support.

Looking after yourself helps us care for you better.

Your general practice is a precious resource.

The new emergency measures announced for general practice will help us in the future. We need you to help us manage the here and now.

HAVERHILL Silver Band is busy preparing for its next concert following a successful return to contesting in the Championship Section.

Having been promoted to the premierships of brass bands in 2015, the band secured a creditable 8th place at the National Brass Band Championships regional contest in late March.

Its performance of the test piece 'Cambridge Variations' gained the approval of the judges and secures the band's place in the Championship Section.

There is a saying that the best teams have many leaders, and that's something that the band benefits from.

Alongside the band's own conductor, Mark Ager, three players also conducted other bands at the contest. The band's principal Euphonium player, Antony Sanders, conducted Tending Brass in the third section contest, while in the fourth section contest, Flugel Horn player Pete Mackley conducted Cottenham Brass and Baritone player Di Pannell conducted Hadstock Silver.

The band's next performance will be at the Arts Centre on Sunday May 8 when the programme will feature a selection of songs and dances arranged for brass band."

GP: Service is squeezed

HAVERHILL'S GP surgeries are proclaiming their commitment to patient care – after more than 800 people signed a petition asking for better access to appointments.

Dr Fiona Andrews, of the Christmas Maltings and Clements Practice, said, on behalf of her own surgery and the Haverhill Family Practice: "We want local people to know that we are doing our very best for them and would ask for their support over the coming months."

She said that her practice had introduced initiatives to help patients in the last year, such as same-day appointments, and booking just one week in advance, which means that fewer appointments are missed.

She also pointed out that respected organisations such as The Kings Fund and The Nuffield Trust acknowledged GP surgeries nationally were in the midst of a crisis, due to complex patient healthcare and a lack of doctors being trained.

Resident Simon Edwards started a petition calling for better access to appointments on April 5, which has now been signed by nearly 840 people. He acknowledged that GP surgeries were under pressure, and said that his petition was not aimed at staff at the surgeries, only the systems.

HANNAH MIRSKY
@HannahMirskyCN

He continued: "It still doesn't change the fact that people are queuing out of the door at eight o'clock in the morning to try and get three or four appointments."

He said that it was important for patients to use the GP service appropriately, but said the system still needed revising.

Dr Andrews' statement comes as it was announced last Thursday that the Government would put £2.4bn into GP surgeries.

This move has been welcomed by MP Matthew Hancock, who said he "will fight to ensure we get our fair share".

Dr Andrews said, in an appeal to patients: "The new emergency measures announced for general practice will help us in the future. We need you to help us manage the here and now."

NEWS IN BRIEF

Stay safe near water

SUFFOLK Fire and Rescue is urging residents to stay safe near water as part of the Chief Fire Officers Association's Drowning Prevention and Water Safety Week, which runs until Sunday.

This campaign focuses on staying safe when taking part in leisure activities near water, as 44 per cent of people who drowned in 2014 did not even intend to enter the water.

The fire service is targeting five groups who are at risk: anglers, students and young adult drinkers, runners and walkers, dog walkers and older walkers.

Messages are being posted on the Suffolk Fire and Rescue Service Facebook page with the hashtag #BeWaterAware, and the public are asked to share to spread the word.

Get your glasses fixed and help a charity

AN optician is offering "MOTs" for your glasses in return for a donation to charity.

Wardale Williams in Haverhill's Camps Road is offering to make minor repairs to spectacles, tighten frames, replace nose pads and give them a general check and a good clean.

In return, they are asking customers to make a donation of their choice to The Guide Dog for the Blind Association.

The MOTs are being offered throughout May, after a similar scheme raising money for children's cancer charity CLIC Sargent proved a success last year.

Gerald and Debbie's 400 miles for Alzheimer's UK

CHALLENGE: Gerald and Debbie prepare to take on their 400-mile cycle ride

A HAVERHILL couple have started a 400-mile cycle ride from the furthest west point in the country to the furthest east.

Gerald and Debbie Blake, both 58, who live in Haverhill's Hudson Close, set out yesterday from St David's in Wales. It's set to take them 10 days to reach Ness Point in Suffolk, the final point on their ride.

They are hoping to raise at least £700 for Alzheimer's UK after Debbie's mother and the mother of one of her co-workers were both diagnosed with the condition.

This month also marks 10 years since Gerald took on the 1,200 mile cycle ride from Land's End to John O'Groats to raise money for a breast cancer charity after his sister was diagnosed with the disease.

Gerald, who runs his own business fitting car exhausts and security systems, said: "We've gone up and down and now we're going across."

Gerald is a keen cyclist and has cycled from Cambridge to London seven or eight times, he estimates.

HANNAH MIRSKY

@HannahMirskyCN

Debbie, who works at the Babraham Institute, is less experienced as a cyclist and so the couple – who have two adult children – have been going on rides together in preparation for the St David's to Ness Point ride.

"I'm 10 years older. Your stamina isn't quite so good, you get your creaks and groans," said Gerald. But the couple are determined to complete the ride.

"We are just trying to give a bit of support," said Gerald.

He said he had received support from customers, who donated to Alzheimer's UK when he explained why he and Debbie were taking on the ride.

Alzheimer's Society chief executive Jeremy Hughes said: "Please back Gerald and Debbie in their fundraising efforts so that Alzheimer's Society can continue leading the fight against dementia."

If you'd like to contribute to the Blakes' fundraising, call Gerald on 07950030058 or visit www.justgiving.com/Gerald-Blake.

RECOGNITION:
Nigel with his medal

Blood donor Nigel clocks up 100 pints

A HAVERHILL man has been recognised for giving 100 pints of his blood – enough to fill 10 human bodies.

Nigel Oxford, who lives in Fritton Court on the Clements Estate, has been donating since the age of 17 – and he's now 63.

He was given a medal and a certificate at a ceremony last month at the Belfry Hotel in Cambourne, in recognition of his dedication to giving blood.

He gives just under one pint four times a year, up from two times a year when he first began donating.

The average person has just 10 pints of blood in their body at any one time, but after you give blood it replenishes itself, meaning that Mr

HANNAH MIRSKY
@HannahMirskyCN

Oxford has been able to give 10 times as much blood as he currently has in his body.

Mr Oxford said his reasons for donating his blood are simple: "It's just the thought that one of my family might need it, or I might need an operation."

Mr Oxford, who has lived in Haverhill since 1969, said that he started donating as a teenager because the town's youth centre was used for giving blood.

He continued: "When they were giving blood, we couldn't use it as a youth centre.

"One night it was raining, so we went in to give blood."

Now Mr Oxford, who works as a production operator in a glue factory, mostly travels to Addenbrooke's in Cambridge with his wife Geraldine to give blood.

He said: "It's just a little prick in the arm. I never notice it too much because I'm too busy chatting up the nurses!"

Blood given by donors can be given to people who have medical conditions such as anaemia, cancer and blood disorders.

It can also be used during surgery and to treat blood loss after childbirth.

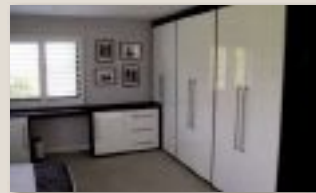

To find out more about giving blood, go to www.blood.co.uk.

New heritage trail reveals the medieval history of town park

DID you know that Haverhill's East Town Park was mentioned in the Domesday Book? A new heritage trail gives you a glimpse into the park's history.

The trail, which was officially opened on Friday, was created entirely by volunteers, who even built a new viewing platform themselves.

The Friends of East Town Park group took a year to create the trail, which was funded by community partnership ONE Haverhill.

It consists of six different signs which tell the history of the park.

Drawings made by volunteer Diana Jay show what each different area looked like at a point in history, giving a glimpse into the past.

Treasurer of the friends group Chris Johnson said: "Probably the highlight of the trail is the viewing platform that overlooks the Stour Brook. It gives a view of the old railway bridge and a view of the weir.

HANNAH MIRSKY

"That's all been built out of decking and timber and allows you to look down the river. If you are lucky there's a kingfisher that flies up and down."

The volunteers on the committee constructed the viewing platform themselves and also undertook all the historical research for the signs.

Mr Johnson's research at the Essex Records Office revealed that there are records of a farm on the site of East Town Park almost 100 years ago.

The name of the farm on the site mentioned in the Domesday Book in 1086 was "Celestuna".

Mr Johnson says this evolved through about 19 different variations to become the modern-day name "Coups" which gives its name to roads and a school in the town, and historically to a large house on the East Town Park site.

He said the name of the house in East Town Park was "Cupples" by 1787.

The launch of the trail last Thursday was attended by councillors Tony Brown and Margaret Marks, as well as local residents.

Cllr Brown said: "The new heritage trail incorporates the history of the park, what it was before. I really think it's a valuable asset to the town. Hats off to all the volunteers who put in the time to achieve it."

The signs form a short circular walk through East Town Park, and a leaflet can be picked up from the East Town Park visitor centre which guides you around the trail.

Vote Labour on 5th May Your local Labour party is here to work for you...

Labour want to:

Defend our local services to prevent cuts damaging our community,

Restore our brown bin service,

Ensure Haverhill residents have their views represented on planning decisions that could blight our town,

Maintain a fair share of resources for our town,

Protect all our residents – regardless of ethnicity, disability, gender or lifestyle preferences,

Maureen works with Unite, the Union, to support workers at Stansted. Maureen is a long serving Town Councillor who is committed to empowering individuals and has demonstrated her willingness to take on those who would attack the rights of the vulnerable.

Haverhill North,
St Edmundsbury Borough Council
Maureen Byrne

David currently works for Sainsbury's in Haverhill, after a long career in the Post Office, most recently at Haverhill. He is an elected member of the Communication Workers Union, and has vast experience of dealing with members' concerns and leading campaigns. David is also involved with various local community projects, and chairs the Haverhill South People's Forum, as well as being a member elected by the parish on St Felix Church Parish Council.

Voting Labour on May 5 is a vote for your local community

ADVERTISING FEATURE

HAVERHILL voters have the opportunity to elect Councillors for the Borough Council and County Council on Thursday, May 5.

The seats, one each on the Borough Council and on the County Council, are up for election following the recent loss of Tim Marks who had served Haverhill for many years. Town Councillor Maureen Byrne is standing for St Edmundsbury Borough Council and David Smith is standing for Suffolk County Council.

With considerable interest in local politics now being generated the opportunity to influence our local administrations is certain to provide an interesting election day. The local Labour party have held seats on all three tiers of council over the past five years and have worked very hard to support our town at every opportunity.

Former Mayor, Roger André, is positive about the opportunity voters now have to engage in political discourse. "We have seen a massive increase in engagement with local politics in recent years. Our regular efforts to make ourselves available have shown an increasing desire for people to discuss our town's future and support the work that our Councillors do to support them. We need to encourage voters to look at the track record of their local parties and see the huge effort your Labour Councillors have already put in to improving Haverhill. Whether it be campaigning to reverse budget cuts, supporting local residents in receiving the help they need from local councils or flying the flag for our great town, the Haverhill Labour Group has always fought hard to ensure our town is a well serviced, thriving community."

Your local Labour Party has candidates for both elections. Haverhill and Kedington Labour Party has promised:

- To work for the restoration of our prior 'brown bin' service
- To oppose cuts to our Fire and Police services
- To expose the damage to vulnerable residents from stringent cuts to community services and press for substantial reserves to be used to balance the books

- To support the implementation of the Masterplan following extensive public consultation
- To continue to work locally with schools to ensure there is adequate planning for the future
- To continue to support the development of Youth facilities and a holistic approach to young people and their needs
- To tackle Child Poverty through a focus on employment, education and housing.

Your local Labour Party is committed to working for all our residents. Your vote for Labour candidates on the Borough Council and County Council can deliver a better deal for all in our community.

Vote for your community – vote Labour.

Addenbrooke's backs Dying Awareness Week

DYING is not an easy subject; it is difficult to deal with the loss of someone close to us, and it is difficult to face the fact that we must all, one day, make end of life preparations.

But, difficult though it may be, Dying Matters – and it is vital that everyone feels comfortable enough to talk openly about death and bereavement rather than avoiding both it, and their feelings.

Each year in May the National

ADVERTISING FEATURE

Council for Palliative Care (NCPC), which set up the Dying Matters Coalition in 2009 to promote public awareness of death, holds an Awareness Week.

This year, the week will run from Monday, May 9 to Sunday, May 15, with Big Conversation events – encouraging people to be open on the subject – happening across the UK.

At Addenbrooke's in Cambridge, and the Rosie Hospitals, where a significant amount of charitable income comes from in memoriam donations and willed gifts, Dying Matters week offers both donors and staff a valuable opportunity.

Lucy Day, Gifts in Wills and In Mem Manager for Addenbrooke's Charitable Trust, says the value of the upcoming awareness week cannot be underestimated.

"In my job I know that talking

ADDENBROOKE'S HOSPITAL: Advocating support for Dying Awareness Week which runs from May 9 to May 15

INITIATIVE: Donors' contribution leaves staff "humbled and honoured" about dying can be very difficult to do," she said.

"That's why Dying Matters Awareness Week is an excellent initiative. Having open conversations about death with friends and family can be very useful."

She added: "It the perfect opportunity for me to thank all the wonderful people who have fundraised and donated in aid of Addenbrooke's and the Rosie in memory of a loved one.

"I am always humbled and honoured to meet donors who think about supporting the hospitals when they have lost someone they have loved and going through a difficult time.

"Without this wonderful support

ACT wouldn't be able to support patient care to the extent that it does."

Gifts can be made to the Addenbrooke's or Rosie Hospitals either via a willed gift, or by remembering someone through a donation in lieu of flowers.

A tribute page can be set up online, and any gift can made to a particular ward or unit – or pointed toward a specific item of equipment.

To find out more about making such a gift, visit act4addenbrookes.org.uk or call Lucy on (01223) 217331.

Help at hand coping with bereavement

COPING with bereavement is one of the most difficult things a person will ever do.

Losing someone you love is not just emotionally painful; it is life-changing – nothing is ever the same again, and at every turn the smallest thing can remind you that they are gone.

From the way the house feels, to the daily route, to what you watch on television, to the people you see socially; the world seems to turn in a different direction once that person is no longer there.

Whether it be a partner or a relative or a friend – or a colleague you valued in the workplace whose loss changes your everyday irreversibly – there is nothing that can be done to make it better.

But making the loss easier is a distinction it is possible to achieve.

The initial stages of loss are the most difficult, and having an understanding network helping with arrangements can make all the difference.

A well-chosen, friendly funeral director who keeps open communication; choosing flowers that have a personal connection to the person who has died; hiring caterers to take the burden off the family one the day of the funeral – these are all helpful, and can all be sourced locally.

ADVERTISING FEATURE

The GOV.UK website has information on what to do after someone dies, such as registering the death and planning a funeral.

For local information visit arrangingafuneral.co.uk and enter in the name of the town.

Once the funeral is completed, it can be helpful to talk through feelings and share experiences with others.

This can be friends and family, but often the most helpful way to move forward is to seek bereavement counselling. This may be especially true if:

- You can't get out of bed
- You neglect yourself – for example, by not eating properly or turning to alcohol
- You feel you can't go on
- You stop going to work
- You are taking your anger out on someone else

Local bereavement services can be found through your GP, local hospice, or the national Cruse helpline on 0844 477 9400.

For help with reducing drink, visit nhs.uk/change4life/Pages/cutting-down-alcohol.aspx.

Bereavement can be particularly difficult for children, and special support can be required.

Find out more by visiting childhoodbereavementnetwork.org.uk.

NEWS IN BRIEF

Could you find Fame?

I WANNA live forever... That's right, classic musical Fame is coming to Haverhill from October 18 to 22 and you could be the star.

Sing-throughs for those aged 13 to 21 on the performance dates will take place at Samuel Ward Academy at 7pm on on May 3 and 6, in preparation for auditions at 7pm on May 10 and 13.

The youth production is being put on by Haverhill's Centre Stage Theatre Company.

MP praises bus company's work

MP for West Suffolk Matthew Hancock paid a visit to a Haverhill-based bus company on Friday.

Mr Hancock visited Stephensons, which runs 35 buses in West Suffolk, and employs 45 people at its Duddery Hill site. He met managing director Bill Hiron.

Mr Hancock said: "Buses are vital to ensure everyone can get around."

Widow to fight for seat in county council by-election

CANDIDATES: John Burns and Ken Rolph, above, and Margaret Marks and David Smith, below

HANNAH MIRSKY

@HannahMirskyCN

FOUR candidates are vying to become a Haverhill county councillor – including the widow of the councillor whose death triggered the election.

Margaret Marks, a serving borough councillor, was married to the late borough and county councillor Tim Marks, and is now standing as the Conservative candidate in the May 5 by-election.

The other candidates are Labour's David Smith, UKIP's John Burns and Lib Dem Ken Rolph.

Cllr Marks said: "I am standing out of respect for Tim, because he was an amazing councillor."

She said that she wanted to improve healthcare in the town, both by encouraging more GPs to work in Haverhill and by asking residents to use the services appropriately.

She also wanted to help residents understand that councils now have to act more like businesses.

She said: "What I'm trying to do is encourage people to be enterprising and self supporting and not be a drain on health."

Labour's Mr Smith said he wanted to stand after being involved in public life through the Haverhill South People's forum and the Community Ambassadors Scheme, as well as working as a union representative at the Post Office for many years.

He said that his aim as a councillor would be to try to get some of the recent cuts, such as those to the police and fire service, reversed.

UKIP candidate, serving borough and town councillor John Burns, said: "It is obvious to me not taking orders from political masters in Bury and Ipswich is a major advantage when it comes to speaking up for residents here."

"More jobs and houses for local people, readily available local healthcare provision, highways maintenance, a strategic transport policy including rail link to Cambridge, and protecting what remains of our heritage, are all dear to my heart."

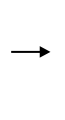

Lib Dem Mr Rolph, who is also standing in the borough council by-election of the same day, said that he would work to ensure "joined-up thinking" around transport.

This would include better bus and cycle provision, working with Essex and Cambridgeshire, and trying to get a relief road built before the large Great Wilsey Park development is constructed.

Guineas Weekend

A WHOLE range of family-friendly activities and celebrations are set to take place this weekend in Newmarket, alongside high-class racing at the QIPCO Guineas Festival.

It all takes place at the Rowley Mile Racecourse and will begin with an opening ceremony at 1pm on Saturday with a Tandem Spitfire flypast.

This will officially launch the 350th anniversary celebrations for Newmarket's horseracing history.

Entry to the festival is free for under-18s, and children will be able to enjoy a bouncy castle, a giant inflatable slide and face painting, alongside racing on both days – with the 2,000 Guineas on Saturday and 1,000 Guineas on Sunday.

In the Grandstand and Paddock enclosure, families will also find a carousel, helter skelter, coconut shy and Rowley's Kids Club – including Newmarket's official mascot Rowley, who will be out and about during the weekend. Visitors will also have the chance to get up close to a real life racehorse.

As well as the Spitfire Flypast, there will be a replica Spitfire which some lucky racegoers may even get the chance to sit inside on the Hyperion Lawn.

The Waddlegoose Cyder Apres Racing stage, also located on the Hyperion Lawn, will be the location for the post racing DJ sets taking place half an hour after the last race.

Radio 2's Sara Cox will host the party on the Saturday night and another DJ will be announced for post racing on the Sunday.

The Waddlegoose Cyder Apres Racing stage will also host Macca throughout the afternoon on both days as well as the Newmarket Community Choir on the Saturday too.

■ Tickets start at £15 if booked in advance. Visit www.newmarketracecourses.co.uk or call 0844 579 3010.

Thursday April 28 – Friday May 6

■ The Richard III screening on Thursday April 28 at 7.30pm is set in an alternative fascist 1930s England at locations such as St Pancras, Battersea Power Station and the building that is now Tate Modern, a restoration on the 1995 film. The feature is preceded by a 10-minute exclusive documentary with Ian McKellan and is followed by a 30-minute discussion with Ian McKellan and director Richard Loncraine broadcast live from BFI Southbank. The stellar cast also includes Maggie Smith, Jim Broadbent, Kristen Scott Thomas and Robert Downey Jr.

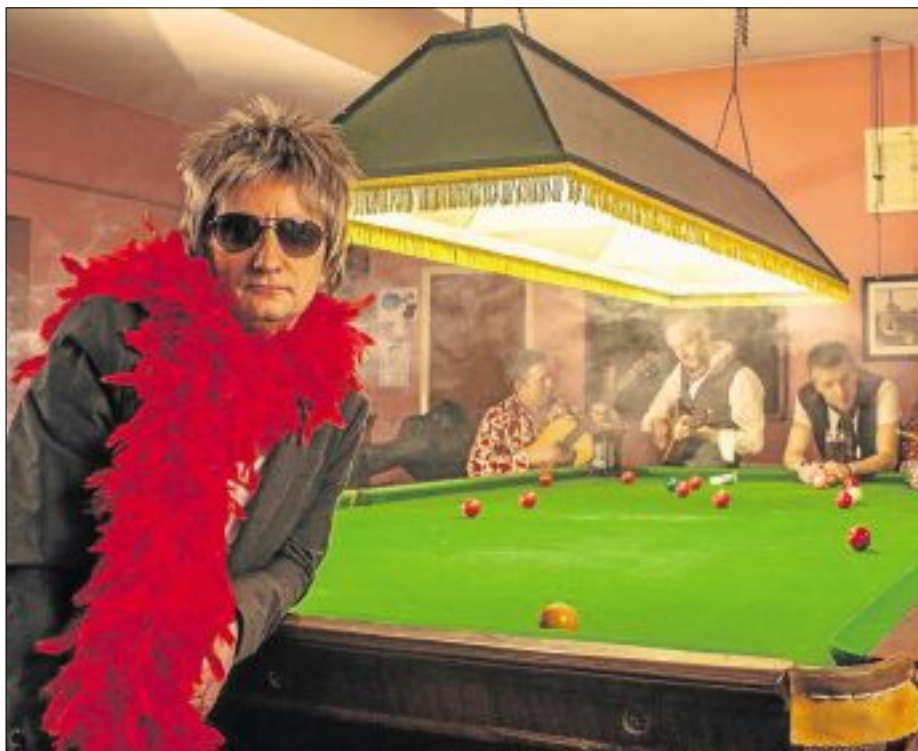

■ Get your glad rags on for Wrong Stewart and The Farces, a fantastic tribute band who perform the timeless classics by Rod Stewart and a selection of Faces material on Friday April 29. Gravelly voiced Graham Buxton belts out Maggie May, Hand Bags And Glad Rags, Hot Legs and the Faces classic Stay With Me to name but a few. Get your hand bags ready for a fun filled night with all your favourite hits and more. Doors open at 7.30pm for an 8.30pm start.

■ Join Hannah Horton and her quartet for The All That Jazz Club on Saturday April 30 at 8pm, with guest Esther Bennett on jazz vocals.

■ Celebrate the Queen's birthday with Neil Sands and his wonderful West End cast for a patriotic afternoon filled with music, memories and fun from the past 90 years. Relive 90 Glorious Years on Wednesday May 4 at 2.30pm.

■ Carrying on with the Exhibition on Screen broadcasts, Monet to Matisse – Painting the Modern Garden is being screened on Thursday May 5 at 7.30pm from the Royal Academy of Arts, London & the Cleveland Museum of Art. Monet was an avid horticulturist and arguably the most important painter of gardens in the history of art but he was not alone. Van Gogh, Bonnard, Pissarro and Matisse all used the modern garden to explore fresh and radical ideas.

■ On the cinema front High-Rise (15), an adaptation of J G Ballard's dystopian novel about society disintegrating within a giant brutalist tower block, is showing on Tuesday May 3 at 7.30pm. Starring Tom Hiddleston, Jeremy Irons and Sienna Miller, the film follows Dr Robert Laing, an affluent new tenant of the high-rise, who attracts the attentions of neighbours Charlotte and Helen. We have an autism friendly screening of The Iron Giant (U), re-mastered and with additional footage, the acclaimed animated version of Ted Hughes novel on Thursday May 5 at 10am. Finally the literally uplifting story of have-a-go ski jumper Eddie Edwards; Eddie The Eagle (PG) is showing on Friday 6 and Tuesday May 24 at 7.30pm and a 1.30pm matinee on Monday June 13. One of Britain's best-known sporting figures – as famous for losing as he was for winning, but dearly loved for his tireless enthusiasm and eccentricities. Eddie The Eagle isn't about being best; it's about overcoming adversity, having your moment in the spotlight and enjoying every minute of it. Come on give it a go.

■ Forthcoming events include the return of Eastern Angles with Somewhere in England, a wartime story of GIs, nylons, Hershey bars and jitterbugging on Tuesday May 10 at 8pm. A chance to go back through time to country music's heyday with

The Country Superstars Experience on Friday May 13 at 7.30pm. And acclaimed New York comic Lewis Schaffer – Free Until Famous on Saturday May 14 at 8pm.

'We have so much to

A former amateur jockey, Sara Cumani – wife of Derby-winning trainer Luca – has lived and worked at the heart of Newmarket for almost four decades.

Now, as she tells Alice Ryan, she wants to show the public what a “wonderful, interesting and unique” town it is DRIVE through Newmarket in the early morning and, of course, you know instantly you're in the home of horse racing.

But arrive in town after lunch and, says Sara Cumani, “you wouldn't have a clue”.

There's plenty going on, but everything's happening behind closed doors.

Her own home – the historic Bedford House yard, off Bury Road – is a case in point.

From the roadside, it's all high walls and closed gates; on the inside, it's a hive of activity.

Blessed with pretty period buildings and glorious pockets of greenery, the yard is buzzing with stable staff. Back in their boxes, the horses poke a velvety nose over their stable doors as the lads and lasses come and go; keen, it seems, not to miss any action.

Sara's husband, acclaimed trainer Luca Cumani, bought the yard from Jack Clayton in the 70s. Since then, Bedford House has given rise to umpteen top-flight flat horses, including Derby winners Kahyasi (1988) and High Rise (1998). Last season alone, the Cumanis clocked up 50 winners – the most notable being Postponed, which scooped the Group 1 King George IV Stakes.

“Newmarket is the most wonderful, interesting and unique place,” says Sara, settling at her kitchen table with a mug of coffee. “There's a real community drive now to show off what Newmarket has to offer: we want to open those closed doors and show everyone what a special town it is. We want more people to come here and, above all else, for them to have fun – so hopefully they'll want to come back.”

Sara is in her second year as chairman of the Newmarket Open Weekend committee. An annual event, which last year grew from one day to two, it gives members of the public chance to go behind the scenes of racing life: to take a tour of a trainer's yard, visit bloodstock auction house Tattersalls, have a flutter at a family-friendly race day, see inside the town's two equine hospitals, and, arguably the biggest thrill, go up on the Gallops to watch the thoroughbreds working.

“That is special,” says Sara. “There's no greater pleasure than riding a racehorse up the Lime Kilns or Warren Hill on a summer's morning; on a sleety winter's day it can be absolutely miserable, but when it's summer and the sun's coming up... There's no better feeling.”

And Sara should know. A skilled horsewoman, she rode out until just last year, after a fall resulted in a broken hip. “I've broken enough bones now not to want to break any more. But I do miss riding out: I miss listening to all the chat between the lads, and of course I miss working with the horses. They're such amazing creatures; to be able to ride them like that is a privilege.”

Having grown up with horses – “I had the typical English country childhood, complete with a couple of ponies, which I loved” – Sara's affinity with the animals led to a job with the British Bloodstock Authority. “I came to Newmarket for the sales, met an Italian... and the rest is history.”

The Italian was, of course, Luca. The son of a Champion

Trainer father, Sergio, and Champion Amateur Jockey mother, Elena, he joined Sir Henry Cecil's team in the early 1970s, before, in 1976, going it alone at Bedford House.

“My mother-in-law was an amazing woman,” adds Sara. “She only took up riding in her 20s and went on to be Champion Amateur on the flat and over the jumps: it's astonishing.”

Sara too rode as an amateur: “I rode my first race when I was five months pregnant with my son, Matty. I look back and I didn't have a clue what went on; it was a complete blur. But I was lucky enough to go on and have some very nice rides – and some very nice wins.”

Sara looks fondly on a partnership with a horse called Barley Bill, which led to three wins, “but one of my most treasured moments has to be a win on Eastern Mystic at York. The prize was your own bodyweight in champagne – that's a good prize! – and it was made all the sweeter by the fact it was a photo-finish.”

The Cumanis' children – both of whom currently live in Australia – are following in the family footsteps: Matt has just taken out his trainer's licence and Francesca, who's also seen success as an amateur jockey, is a TV racing presenter. “She was also working for CNN until recently, but she's about to have a baby,” explains Sara, who plans to go to Sydney soon after her first grandchild's arrival this month. “Having both your children in Australia has its good and bad points: yes, it's a long way away, but it's a great place to go to escape the British winter...”

As well as riding, Sara is hands-on with the breeding side of the business: she's at the helm of Fittocks, the Cumanis' stud in Upend. The enterprise, which has grown from

Pictures by

be proud of'

a handful of mares inherited from Luca's father in the mid-80s, has produced a long line of star performers – most recently Koora, who already has three wins to her name and "looks like she'll be pretty smart as a 4 year old". Sired by Cheveley Park's hero stallion Pivotal, Koora is descended from Kalata, half-sister of the Derby-winning Kahyasi. Another home-grown one to watch, adds Sara, is Guineas hopeful Materialistic.

"I love being out at Fittocks," she says, confiding that the long-term plan is to retire to the stud, making way for Matt to take the reins at Bedford House. "The countryside is so beautiful – I am a real country girl – and the foaling season is particularly special. You see them staggering about on their gangly legs... Watching them grow is a delight."

When it comes to the question of what makes a good horse, Sara is circumspect: "Ask 10 people about 10 horses and they'll say 10 different things about each one. For me, I've got to like the look of it. Yes, it needs to be relatively correct; everything's got to be in the right place. But I like to see some personality, too: a good horse has to have something about it."

When matching stallions with their mares at Fittocks, Sara says she, Luca and team always go for the best budget will allow. "We're lucky in Newmarket, because we've got so many amazing stallions on the doorstep."

Take the Darley-bred Dubawi, currently commanding a cover fee of £225,000: he is, says Sara, "a stunner and his offspring have such a great temperament; they just want to win".

Postponed – the Cumanis' 2015 King George winner – was sired by Dubawi; owned by Sheikh Mohammed Obaid Al Maktoum, he was part of a 35-strong string removed at sudden notice from Bedford House last year. Seemingly a bolt from the blue, the move made headlines in both the racing and mainstream press.

Luca will be among the dozens of trainers opening their yard as part of this year's Newmarket Open Weekend, which falls on September 17 and 18.

"The Open Weekend isn't just aimed at racing fans – it doesn't matter if you've never been racing in your life. In fact anyone who worries racing is cruel can come and see how totally pampered the horses are; they're beautifully, beautifully looked after and yes, they are asked to run a bit occasionally, but that's fairly much in their make-up."

To mark 350 years of racing in Newmarket, the town's new Heritage Centre will be unveiled at this year's Open Weekend, with visitors getting a first look at the multi-million-pound development. Alongside galleries of sporting art and racing memorabilia, attractions will include live racehorses stabled on-site. "I think that's so important. As I said, at the moment anyone who comes to Newmarket after lunch wouldn't see a horse – but now they'll be able to."

The Open Weekend raises funds for local causes; this year's good causes are Racing Welfare's Newmarket Housing Project, which will provide much-needed accommodation to new stable staff, and Newmarket Day Centre.

"Both are brilliant causes. The accommodation issue is a serious one: there's a massive shortage of stable staff. They train at the Racing School, where they get looked after beautifully, but so often end up leaving Newmarket at that point; although the jobs are here, there's just not enough good accommodation."

Sara says she hopes 2016's Open Weekend will be the biggest and best yet. "Newmarket is celebrating 350 years of racing this year: that's an impressive heritage; something the whole town should be proud of. We have so much to be proud of here – so let's show it off."

AT HOME: Sara Cumani

OUTLANDER PHEV: Well respected

Mitsubishi celebrates 2nd emission triumph

MITSUBISHI Motors in the UK is celebrating after the Outlander PHEV was awarded the title of 'Best Ultra Low Emission Vehicle' for the second year in a row at the prestigious Fleet World Honours.

The awards are open to all motor manufacturers and the judging panel is chaired by Steve Moody, editor of Fleet World, and includes John Kendall and Alex Grant from the Fleet World editorial team.

Presenting the award, Steve said: "A global sales phenomenon, the Outlander PHEV has introduced more than 21,000 UK drivers to the benefits of electric motoring, and it's revolutionised Mitsubishi's fleet presence.

"Low CO2 emissions of 42g/km make this capacious, well-equipped SUV an accessible company car, while updates last year have broadened its appeal still further. It's a true game-changer."

Women are stars of online sales growth

THE fastest growing segment of the online car purchase market is women, according to figures from Buyacar.co.uk.

Growth in the number of women buying new and used cars without visiting a dealership is now more than double that of men compared with two years ago.

Last year Buyacar.co.uk saw a 58 per cent increase in the number of women bypassing the dealer and clicking to buy a car online, compared with growth of 29 per cent among males.

The online car sales specialist attributes the disproportionately rapid growth of female buyers to a growing preference among women for the online purchase experience rather than the traditional showroom and forecourt environment.

Research consistently highlights the concerns of women with the traditional car buying process and the latest study by consumer statistics specialist Mintel last year – 'Car Purchasing Process UK: April 2015' – confirmed a strong discrepancy between women's and men's experience of the process.

WINDOW SHOPPING:

But that process is now just as likely to be online for female buyers

And the consumer experience consultants Different Spin recently made headline news with the results of a survey of 48,000 women which concluded that women are three times more likely than men to experience dealers negatively and that 90 per cent would not visit a dealership without a man to accompany them.

The figures confirm a faster drift from bricks to clicks among female purchasers of cars than for men, with the business stressing that the change was 'organic' and that it takes no particular steps to target women over men.

Austin Collins, managing director and co-founder of Buyacar.co.uk, said: "It is certainly time the industry stopped talking about women as a niche customer segment and recognises that they are increasingly driving overall market growth, as the online purchase evidence shows."

Record new car registrations look set to continue as research shows demand for new cars is still growing.

Almost half of all motorists now plan to buy new when it comes to their next car, compared with less than a third three years ago.

i10 wins city car plaudits – again

PRAISED: Hyundai's i10

THE Hyundai i10 has won 'Best City Car' at the 2016 Fleet World Honours for the second consecutive year.

Praised for its practicality, generous kit and competitive running costs, the Hyundai i10 reigned supreme in one of the most competitive categories. Hyundai's strong fleet proposition is founded on low BIK banding and competitive P11D levels, areas in which the i10 excels boasting 16 per cent BIK for its SE Blue 1.0 model.

Guy Pigounakis, fleet director, Hyundai Motor UK, said: "We are immensely proud: our designers and engineers created a stylish, comfortable and economical city car, which uniquely combines the agility of a small car with the features from the segment above."

The stylish i10 is available in seven trim levels with a choice of 1.0 or 1.2 petrol engines. The highly efficient 1.0 Blue model boasts combined fuel economy of 65.7mpg and just 98g/km CO2 emissions.

Dacia Logan MCV is a family car star

WINNER: The Dacia Logan MCV

THE Dacia Logan MCV has scooped the Gold award in the fiercely competitive Family Car category in the Auto Express Driver Power 2016 Awards.

It is the first category win for Dacia in the awards and the UK's most affordable estate car took the prized number one spot after owners praised it in their responses to the leading automotive customer satisfaction study. In total, almost 50,000 car owners took part in this year's Auto Express Driver Power survey with 183 models produced by 32 makes judged across 10 categories.

Complementing the success of the Logan MCV in the ownership survey, the Dacia Sandero – the UK's most affordable car – finished a strong seventh in the equally hard-fought Supermini category.

The Logan MCV is priced from £6,995. Full details from John Banks on (01223) 351616.

Driverless era 'will be chance to drink-drive'

DEFINITIVE research from The Co-operative Insurance has found many young drivers are misguided when it comes to driverless technology, as a new report 'Young people in the driving seat' reveals a range of misconceptions, many with potentially serious consequences.

Despite young people often embracing new technology quickly, it seems as though driverless cars are testing many to their limits. Over half – 55 per cent – think driverless technology is not appealing, as opposed to 37 per cent who welcome it.

Over a fifth (22 per cent) believe they will be free to consume as much alcohol as they want while behind the wheel, and nearly a quarter (24 per cent) think they will be able to have a snooze at the same time as being driven around in the safety of the vehicle.

In reality, it isn't as simple as getting in your vehicle and being driven around: drivers need to be seated in the driver's seat at all times, adhering to the laws of the road, while being capable of taking over immediate manual control in the event of a technology failure or other emergency.

'LOOK NO HANDS': But – sorry – this doesn't mean you can have a beer and a fag!

Steve Kerrigan, head of telematics at The Co-operative Insurance, said: "This research has shown that young drivers are unprepared and uninformed about self-driving cars. Many even mistakenly believe that you will be able to drink alcohol and sleep it off while you are driven home."

Sarah-Jane Martin, spokesperson for Brake, the road safety charity said: "This research shows that a worrying proportion of young people don't have all the facts and are often misinformed over how technology can help protect them.

"The vast majority of road crashes are caused by a mistake or risk taken by a driver so we welcome any technology that can engineer driver error and risk-taking out of the equation. Technology is already being used to make roads safer and save lives, and this is a rapidly developing field with the potential to stop more people suffering the awful consequences of road crashes."

It appears, driverless cars also divide national opinion, resulting in a North/South divide, as the report has found that young drivers in Scotland (55 per cent) are least likely to invest in the technology, whilst (43 per cent) of drivers in the South East and London are more receptive to it.

Over a quarter (29 per cent) of young drivers are attracted by the new technology because they believe there will be less human error. And 24 per cent of young drivers like the idea of driverless cars because there is no actual driving involved, while (24 per cent) think they won't need to monitor things such as, tyre pressure or windscreen washers, as it will all be automatic.

Oh dear – welcome to the future!

1954 LAGONDA: Royal runaround

Duke of Edinburgh car sets record at Duxford

THE car that won Aston Martin Lagonda Ltd its first Royal Warrant, the magnificent 1954 Lagonda 3 Litre Drophead Coupe built to the special order of HRH, The Prince Philip, Duke of Edinburgh sold on Wednesday for £350,000 – a new world record.

The H&H auction at the Imperial War Museum, Duxford, Cambs attracted more than 1,000 bidders and viewers following a world wide marketing push which attracted global publicity. Bids came from around the world online and on a bank of telephones as well as from bidders in the enormous aircraft hanger where the sale was held.

The four-seater Convertible was one of just 20 MK1 cars made and was used by the Duke for personal transport up until 1961. It had 50,000 miles on the clock.

KEEN: The semi-finalists from Haverhill Tennis Club's opening under-10 green tournament of the summer season

Girls clinch Halstead League crown

HAVERHILL Tennis Club's under-18 girls' team have won the Halstead League, Division One title.

Keri Tobin, 13, Althea Ibayan 17 and Amelia Fleming, 12, picked up wins over Great Baddow, Stebbing, Wickham Bishop and Earls Colne.

Their only defeat came against Braintree.

Haverhill's orange team,

Tennis

managed by Gary Paffett, also had a fine winter, and finished in second place after just one loss.

The under-18 team also only lost one match, but they finished third.

Haverhill recently held their first under-10 green event of the summer season.

Oliver Sutton, Sam Wenley, Isabelle Miller and Riley Jennings represented Haverhill.

The youngsters played in a round-robin format, with Logan McElfresh, Roman Bartels and Luke Byron reaching the knock-out stages.

Byron was too strong for the rest, and won the tournament having lost just one game all afternoon.

Victory secures Rovers' survival

AN impressive 2-0 win at Long Melford ensured any lingering doubts over Haverhill Rovers' status in the Thurlow Nunn League, Premier Division were brushed aside.

Rovers went into the game with relegation still a mathematical possibility, but last night's victory guaranteed that they will stay up.

The uncertainty had not been helped by a 4-1 home defeat to Hadleigh on Monday.

The first goal came in the 11th minute and had a hint of offside about it, but there was no doubt about the second goal eight minutes later, which came after a fine save from keeper Callum Robinson.

A third goal from the visitors made it 3-0 at half time, but there were more goals until the last 10 minutes when Hadleigh's fourth was followed by a consolation goal from Luke Haines.

On Saturday, Rovers went down 2-0 at Fakenham.

Dean Craig, Jonny Milne and Aaron Forshaw were on target as Haverhill Borough won 3-0 at home to Stowmarket in the First Division on Tuesday night.

And on Saturday, Borough enjoyed one of the best results of their campaign when they beat Downham Town 5-0 at the New Croft.

Player-manager Martin Westcott put Borough in front early on, with Ryan Geoghegan doubling the lead with a wind-assisted effort from long range.

Johnny Milne's penalty made it 3-0 at the break, with Craig Pruden extending the lead just after the hour.

Gareth Thomas added a fifth late on to complete the win.

DELIGHT: The successful Devonports Haverhill team

Devonports win county honours

DEVONPORTS Haverhill clinched the Cambridgeshire League, Division Four title with a 5-0 crushing of Cambridge IV.

Cambridge were also in with a slight chance of top spot going into the game, but needing a minimum of 14 points on the night, Devonports started well with skipper Malcolm Day and Gary Last both claiming their matches.

Unbeaten Wayne Bamforth took the opener in his match 15-12 only for his young Cambridge opponent to grab the second 20-18.

But Bamforth stepped up a gear to take the last two games 15-11, 15-5 to ensure Devonports had the title-winning points in the bag.

Nathan Ttphi also retained his unbeaten record for the league season, winning 13-15, 15-10, 15-9, 15-13.

Tony Archer completed the season for Devonports, playing out a five-setter.

He went down 15-10 in the first, but battled back to move into the lead himself 15-12, 15-7.

The Cambridge skipper levelled by taking the fourth set 15-10 only for Archer to win the decider 15-6.
